

Pascale Neuschafer

Pascale is a multilingual voice over artist and actress, who graduated with a BDram Honours from the University of Stellenbosch in 2003. English and German are her native languages and she also speaks French and Afrikaans fluently. She has also worked as a voice and dialect coach (notably on Martinus Basson and the Handspring Puppet Company's international production of "Tall Horse"). Bragging rights? She was featured as the solo vocalist on the popular German TV movie, "Das Krokodil", directed by the late Urs Eggers.

Her experience ranges from commercials, animations, documentaries, training DVDs, IVRs, books, e-learning content and anything in between. And one of her favourite jobs is creating character voices and crafting accents from around the world.
