

Adam Neill

Instagram

Adam is an actor and writer working out of Cape Town, South Africa. He has a range of international film and television performances and is well regarded for his character work in biopics. As part of his character work he can present a solid range of accents from including British and American Standard, some European and several Southern African variations. He is well experienced in stage work, where his particular passion is Shakespeare, and has traveled internationally in theatre productions. Writing samples are available on request from adamneill.com.

Image: Tongue Twisters